

US Government Policy towards the Plains Indians 1830-1850s

In 1830 President Jackson signed the _____ which forced _____ American Indians to move west of the Mississippi river. Many died on this forced relocation and it became known as _____. A permanent border was set up separating the USA from Indian territory.

In the 1840s the government gained new land on the West coast of America. Much of this they gained because of a war with _____.

People started to cross Indian territory to reach these lands in the West. The followed paths made by explorers and _____.

In the 1851 the government passed a new law. It was called the _____. It established the idea of _____ being set up to move Indian tribes onto unwanted land so _____ settlers could take land they wanted.

Reservations	46,000	The Trail of Tears	Fur Trappers
White	Indian Appropriations Act	Indian Removal Act
Mexico			